<sup>1</sup> Therefore we must give the more earnest heed to the things we have heard, lest we drift away. <sup>2</sup> For if the word spoken through angels proved steadfast, and every transgression and disobedience received a just reward, <sup>3</sup> how shall we escape if we neglect so great a salvation, which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was confirmed to us by those who heard Him, <sup>4</sup> God also bearing witness both with signs and wonders, with various miracles, and gifts of the Holy Spirit, according to His own will?

To Define! - MIRACLES: dunamis (δύναμις, 1411)

Vine, W. E., Unger, M. F., & White, W., Jr. (1996). Vine's Complete Expository Dictionary of Old and New Testament Words (Vol. 2, p. 682). Nashville, TN: T. Nelson.

Usage Notes: "power, inherent ability," is used of works of a supernatural origin and character, such as could not be produced by natural agents and means. It is translated "miracles" in the RV and AV in Acts 8:13 (where variant readings give the words in different order); Acts 19:11; 1 Cor. 12:10, 28, 29; Gal. 3:5; AV only, in Acts 2:22 (RV, "mighty works"); Heb. 2:4 (RV, "powers"). In Gal. 3:5, the word may be taken in its widest sense, to include "miracles" both physical and moral.

To Define! - MIRACLES: dunamis (δύναμις, 1411)

“A miracle is an event which the forces of nature—including the natural powers of man—cannot of themselves produce, and which must, therefore, be referred to a supernatural agency”

(George Fisher, Manual of Christian Evidences pg. 9)

- WONDERS: teras (τέρας, 5059), “something strange,” causing the beholder to marvel, is always used in the plural, always rendered “wonders,”
- SIGNS: semeion (σημεῖον, 4592), “a sign, mark, token” ... used of “miracles” and wonders as signs of divine authority ...

The DURATION of Miracles

Greek Word: γλῶσσα

Transliteration: glōssa

There is no evidence of the continuance of this gift after apostolic times nor indeed in the later times of the Apostles themselves; this provides confirmation of the fulfillment in this way of 1 Cor. 13:8, that this gift would cease in the churches, just as would "prophecies" and "knowledge" in the sense of knowledge received by immediate supernatural power (cp. 1 Cor. 14:6). The completion of the Holy Scriptures has provided the churches with all that is necessary for individual and collective guidance, instruction, and edification.
